

.....your data and our scanning activities.

Important notice for data donors

As a national archive and a place of deposit for public records the National Geological Records Centre (NGRC) is required to ensure the security of the information it holds and allow reasonable access.

BGS is undertaking a conversion programme to scan its borehole record collection and convert it to digital form.

We need to seek your approval in order to do this and would appreciate your help with this difficult task.

Has your organisation donated information to the British Geological Survey?

If your organisation has donated borehole or site investigation records to the Survey at any time and you have not received a letter about the conversion programme please contact:

Rod Bowie — NGRC, British Geological Survey, Keyworth, Nottingham, NG12 5GG

Tel: 0115 936 3106 Fax: 0115 936 3150 or e-mail lg@bgs.ac.uk

The BGS continues to welcome donations of any information that will help with its work in the surveying and interpretation of the geology of the UK.
