How to get to the British Geological Survey

The British Geological Survey's Scottish HQ, Murchison House, is situated adjacent to the University of Edinburgh's King's Buildings campus on West Mains Road, and is easily reached by car and well served by public transport. There are no parking restrictions on West Mains Road at the weekends. Murchison House has wheelchair access & disabled toilet facilities.

By Public Transport:
Bus route 38 & (alternate) 41 stop on West Mains Road. Route 24 & 41 to Blackford Station and 5 minute walk up Blackford Ave. Route 42 to Mayfield Road and 5 minute walk along West Mains Road.
Note: Alternate 41 buses now run to King's Buildings, alight as for No. 38.
BGS is a 10 minute walk from Cameron Toll shopping centre, which is served by bus routes 3, 3A, 7, 8, 24, 29, 31, 32, 33, 37, 37A, 38, 42 & 49

By Car:
From the city bypass, exit at Straiton Junction, then follow A701 into town and bear left at bottom of Liberton Brae onto Mayfield Road, then left into West Mains Road.
